VARIETIES OF WHEATEN BREAD.

The "Staff of Life" Preferred by Different Classes of Citizens—Very Interesting Information—Some Secrets of the Bread-Making Business.

A barrel of good flour should make from 270 to 280 five-cent loaves. Many bakers blend four brands, say two Minnesota Springs and two Indiana Winters, before they get the right alloy. Others use only one grade of Spring and two of Winter wheat. These make the best brands of fancy bread.

Formerly yeast was made of malt, potatoes and hops, and this is extensively used. Fancy bread bakers, however, use a patent yellow compressed yeast.

It is popularly supposed that bakers use alum extensively in order to whiten their bread. Such is not the fact. There is no necessity for the use of alum, and it is not used in the trade.

Vienna bread is made in air-tight ovens, of the best grade of flour, and milk is used instead of water in mixing the dough. In baking, the steam generated settles back on the bread instead of escaping. This makes the outer crust thin and tender and gives the bread a peculiarly rich taste and pleasant aroma.

What is known to the trade as "steam" bread is made of the very finest flour and baked in air-tight pans which enclose it on all sides. It is thus baked in its own steam and possesses a flavor peculiarly its own.

Aerated bread is an English invention, but has been in use in America for years. When the dough has reached a certain consistency, it is run into an air-tight cylinder and strongly impregnated with carbonic acid gas. This creates the lightness and sponginess, without detracting in the slightest from its nutritious qualities.

Boston brown bread is composed of yellow corn and rye meal, sweetened with molasses or brown sugar.

Our German fellow-citizens eat rye bread almost exclusively, and are particularly fond of the schwarz and kummel brod.

Both are made from black rye, but the kummel has caraway seeds through the dough before baking.

Americans, English, Irish and French prefer wheat bread as fresh and white as possible.

Southern people eat corn bread smoking hot, and their wheat bread is usually in the form of small flat soda biscuits, which are not palatable when cold—whence may be derived the reason for the reign of dyspepsia and heartburn in the South. Colored folks never eat corn bread if they can help it, and they like their wheat bread warm and spongy.

Italians and Chinese live on stale bread bought at the large steam bakeries and seldom suffer from toothache.

Many improvements have been made in the construction of bakers' ovens. Now they are air-tight, the workmen are as far as possible protected from the glare of the fire, and by an ingenious system of self-acting telegraphers, and automatic levers acting on flues and air valves, the temperature inside the oven can be regulated to a half degree without opening the doors.

Some years ago a machine was invented for the purpose of kneading dough by steam power. It proved an utter failure, and dough is kneaded to-day, as it always has been, by hand.

The silly story that bakers kneaded their dough with their feet never had any foundation in fact. Master bakers pride themselves on their cleanliness, and in many shops no journeyman who chews tobacco can have work.

Working on Their Patriotism.
Noah M. Ludlow, the actor, who died in St. Louis at the age of ninety-one, a short time ago, was fond of telling of the first great hit of his life in New Orleans.

The theatre was packed with keel-boaters and flat-boaters. He knew they were hard to move, but he determined to try to stir them.

He put on a buckskin suit, took a rifle in his hand and capered nimbly before them. They eyed him critically, and when he began a song they listened.

Then he came to the second verse, which ran as follows:
"But Jackson he was wide awake, and wasn't scared at trifles,
For well he knew what aim we take with our Kentucky rifles,
So he marched us down to 'Cyprus swamp, the ground was low and muddy,
There stood John Bull in martial pomp, but here was old Kentucky."

What followed was indescribable. The men shouted themselves hoarse with delight, they made him sing the verse three times, and within two months it could be heard along the rivers from New Orleans to Pittsburg.

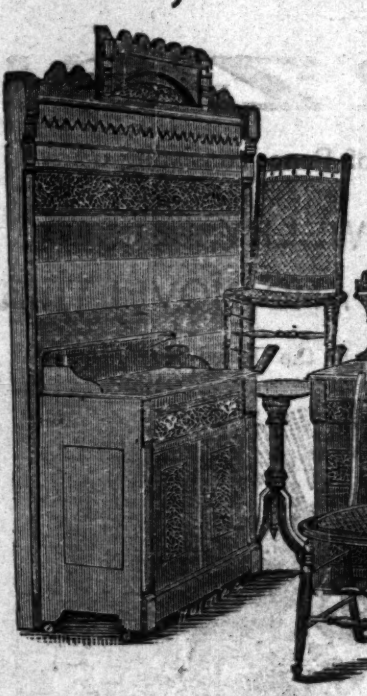

Young Married Folk.
In this country, many matrimonial engagements are broken off because the families are antagonistic. The young people may love each other, but a future mother-in-law hates the other, and hence there is quarrel, discussion, and separation. "My daughter shall not live with Mrs. So-and-so," says Mrs. This-or-that. They manage this thing better abroad, by deciding that the young couple shall live in their own house, have their own income, and be not dependent on either mother-in-law. While the family relations are kept up with even greater vigor than with us, yet the independence of the parties to be married is respected. In this one respect the etiquette of engagements abroad is far better than ours. It is a sensible outlook, perhaps lacking that wild romance which is supposed to accompany a true-love match, but it has its advantages in the happiness of security. Nothing is left to chance or caprice, and the "too much mother-in-law," which sometimes wrecks the happiness of young people both before and after marriage in America, is carefully guarded against.

General Harrison Since Election.

General Harrison since the election has deepened the impression he made on the country during the campaign. No candidate in the long history of our presidential elections has spoken oftener, more freely or more fully during his canvass. For weeks, says the Philadelphia Press, he was daily before the people with a speech which was the next morning before the 4,000,000 voters within reach of the daily press of the country. Every speech helped him and the cause for which he was a standard-bearer. Not one contained a word or a sentence which was used to his injury. Neither the malice of his enemies nor the ingenuity of partisan opponents could find text or pretext for attack in these speeches, whose collected bulk would fill a volume. If ever a presidential candidate made his own calling and election sure by his own efforts, General Harrison did it in these speeches, which began with his nomination and ended a fortnight before his triumphant election.

But if General Harrison showed he could talk before election, he has shown he could hold his tongue since then. Visited by hundreds, sought by scores, closeted with conspicuous men by the dozen, a center of the press, the pressure and the pertinacious petitions that beat about a President-elect, General Harrison has made no mistakes. He has grown daily before the country. His reticence, poise and prudence have impressed all. He has blundered into none of the sentiment which marred the first post-election month of some of his recent predecessors. He has made no pledges. He has avoided political entanglements. We hear nothing of any Indianapolis "conference." The Cabinet-makers are at sea. The gossip venders bring nothing away from the modest home in which the next President has passed so many hard-working years.

General Harrison is keeping his own counsel, making his own plans, giving no one a right to speak for his policy until he lays it down himself, and acting as his own Cabinet-maker. The Republican party and the country see this with profound satisfaction. It breeds confidence in the President and his Administration. It stills apprehension at the South and elsewhere. It creates the conviction that public interests have in General Harrison a man silent, resolute and decided, who acts for himself, but waits in his action until all is heard that can be said on the issue before him.

WHILE the European correspondents are talking of armaments and mobilization of troops, the important news comes stealing past them that the Emperor of Austria is learning the American game of poker.

It is said that when the Georgia Legislature opened its session the other day no prayer was offered, the Clerk explaining that as Grover Cleveland was not re-elected there was nothing to thank anybody for.

The Excitement Abated.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 11.—The excitement over the affair of Saturday night has abated. The troops are still here and will remain several days. Governor Seay, who came up from Montgomery last night, says this morning that he will keep the troops here as long as there is any evident necessity for them. The coroner's investigation begins this afternoon or tomorrow. No new developments of importance in the Hayes murder mystery.

Responsible Minister.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Star says that General Warren, late Chief of the metropolitan police, is going to Suakin to settle the affairs there after the fighting between the British forces and the Arabs has ended.

Labour Federation.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 11.—The annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor met this afternoon. After the address of welcome and the reply, a recess was had, pending the report of the Credentials Committee.

Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Two mysterious well-dressed persons are under arrest for supposed complicity in the Shufeldt dynamite explosion of yesterday. Nothing definite can be learned.

Terrific Explosion.

Ernest Casper, one of the three known to be dead, was at work in the engine cupola at the time. The cupola was lifted almost entire and thrown a distance of sixty feet upon the south side of the street, and the mutilated form of Casper is somewhere under the wreck.

John Christensen, kilnman, the second known victim, has not yet been found.

The proprietor and manager of the mill were on the ground early this morning, but have been unable to learn positively the cause of the explosion. Each thinks oatmeal dust may have caused it, but the terrific force is unprecedented, if this theory be accepted. No other reasonable explanation is offered, however. Plate glass was shattered and buildings shaken a mile away. Loss, $150,000.

A body supposed to be that of engineer Miller was unearthed at 11 o'clock, badly burned and mangled. It had been thrown a considerable distance. The boilers uncovered were found intact, so the explosion certainly was of the mill dust. The police say no dynamite was used.

The body of Ernest Casper has been dug out of the ruins.

Poor Hayti to be Humbled.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Orders were issued by the Navy Department to-day for the United States steamers Galena and Yantic to sail from New York tomorrow for Port au Prince, Hayti, to enforce the demand of this Government for the release of the American steamer Haytian Republic. They will sail in company, and be under the command of Rear-Admiral Luce, who has been instructed to transfer his flag from the Richmond to the Galena. The owner of the Haytian Republic, by special permission of the Secretary of the Navy, will be a passenger on the Galena, and it is therefore expected that the vessel will be restored to him as soon as it gets into the possession of the navy officers. Secretary Whitney declined to talk about the Haytian troubles, on the ground that there was nothing to add to what has already appeared in the newspapers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—No orders had been received at the navy yard at 11 o'clock this morning for the Galena to sail, but Admiral Luce said that they might go at any hour.

Crooked Railroad Manager.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—It is said the Interstate Commerce Commission have never before unearthed as much crookedness as was revealed by its present investigation. It appears that all the roads have been employing scalpers to sell their through tickets much below the regular rates, thus permitting the roads to quote higher proportionate rates for short distances. The Commissioners have decided that this must be stopped, and it is said they will render a decision that roads which cut rates through scalpers are guilty of a violation of law. The managers of the roads will be called before the Commissioners to-day and will have the riot act read to them.

A Democratic Conference.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A conference of Democratic Senators was held last evening, at which the Senate substitute for the Mills' bill was under consideration. No vote was taken, the gathering being merely a conference, not a caucus. It was unanimously determined to make no factious operation to the bill, but to let it take its regular course. The views of the Democratic Senators on the bill however, will be made known as each paragraph is read, when amendments deemed necessary and just will be made.

Emperor William.

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—The National Zeitung denies the sinister rumors regarding Emperor William's health. It is stated the Emperor is writing a narrative of the events of his recent visits to the northern capitals, which will be published with wood cut sketches by himself.

Prison Official Suffocated.

HALIFAX, Dec. 11.—During a fire last night in Deputy Warden Keefe's quarters in the 'Dorchester' penitentiary, Keefe was suffocated and his wife had a narrow escape.

Women Voting.

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—The stormy weather is unfavorably influencing the vote in this city, though the women are casting a heavy vote for School Committees.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—SENATE.—Frye's resolution of yesterday, instructing the Committee on Foreign Relations to inquire into the state of affairs at the Samoan Islands, was reported back from the Committee on Contingent Expenses, and agreed to. The Senate then resumed the consideration of the tariff bill, the pending question being Harris' amendment to reduce the duty on beams, girders, etc., from 1 1/2 cents per pound to 6-10 of a cent.

Vest, referring to Sherman's speech yesterday, denied the assertion that the late election settled the question of tariff legislation. He (Vest) was not disheartened by that result. The question would last as long as the country endured, because it involved a fundamental difference in the construction of the Constitution, aside from the policies of the Government. If the position of the Republican party to-day was correct (unlimited taxation for the purpose of protection), the war would never cease, because it was, in his judgment, a subversion of the principles of the Government and its autonomy. Although the Senator from Ohio might be right in stating that the election was a triumph of the protective principle, he absolutely denied in the most emphatic terms, that it settled the question. As to the details of the bill, the people had not meant to endorse the Senate substitute. For himself, he would exercise his right to criticize and oppose every single provision of the substitute, if it should take up the balance of the session. Vest denied the accuracy of the statement made by Sherman yesterday, that there was a reduction of ten per cent in the metal schedule by the Senate substitute. Sherman reaffirmed his statement, and said the reduction was over ten per cent.

After a long debate, the Harris amendment to reduce the duty on steel beams from 1 1/2 cents to 6-10 of a cent per pound, was rejected—yeas 20, nays 28. The vote then, on the motion of Vest, and with the support of Allison and the Republicans, was fixed at 1 cent per pound.

Chambers presented a petition praying for an investigation into the alleged deprivation of the right to vote for electors and Congressmen in South Carolina last month.

HOUSE.—After the reading of the journal, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the direct tax bill.

The House Committee on Military Affairs to-day ordered a favorable report on the bill to place Gen. John C. Fremont on the retired list, as a Major-General.

A New Departure.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 11.—An important move in a practical settlement of a vital point in the fisheries controversy was made here on Saturday. The Gloucester schooner "Navarion," Captain Campbell, arrived from the bank with a cargo of halibut. Under the treaty of 1818, Captain Campbell decided to land a part of the cargo here, enter it at the Customs, pay the duty and transfer the balance to Boston. He landed 8,000 pounds of packed fish on the public wharf, right under the noses of the Customs officers, delivered it to the Boston agents for the Boston, Halifax & Prince Edward Steamship line, who shipped it for Boston. Consul General Phelan frankly admitted that the transshipment had taken place and said the fact spoke for itself. The shipment was not made under the vi-gendi, but under the rights claimed by the United States, under the bonding arrangements of the Treaty of Washington. It is known that Consul General Phelan has been in constant telegraphic communication with Secretary Bayard, and the Dominion officials know all about the transshipment, and the fact that they have not interfered is taken as evidence that the transshipment is made with the approval of the Canadian Government, and that it betokens an abandonment of a vital feature of the Canadian position.

A Fight With Oyster Dredgers.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 11.—There has been an engagement between the State steamer Governor McLane, and a fleet of oyster dredgers in the Chesapeake river. Two of the dredgers boats were sunk and another taken. One of the crew on the steamer, George McLane, was wounded. This is the first fight between the State fishing force and the dredgers since the steamers were provided with cannons. Captain Howard telegraphed that the fight was a severe one; the steamer was riddled with balls. Captain Howard requested that help be sent at once, and the steamer Thomas, Captain Loker, was sent immediately to his aid. The McLane carries a twelve pound cannon.

A steamer which arrived this morning reported seeing the two sunken dredges off Hell Point, with their sails riddled by shot; and further on, four men from the dredger fleet were found ashore. Forty rounds were fired from a cannon by an expert gunner from the Naval Academy. The fight took place at the mouth of Chesapeake river.

The Secretary of State of Maryland has been notified from Washington that six more cannon will be sent immediately.

The Farnell Commission.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—At the meeting of the Farnell Commission to-day Inspector of Police Ardlie testified in relation to the disturbed condition of County Mayo. He said the outrages increased after the issue of the anti-rent manifesto. On his cross-examination he said he knew that secret societies existed, but did not know that the Government supported such a society as a counter force to the League.

Daird freely testified that because he paid his rent the moonlighters visited his house and shot his son. On cross-examination he said he had been a member of the local league until it was suppressed. Had no reason to believe the League was implicated in murder. The League and the priests belonging to it denounced his son's murder. The League did not object to the payment of rents where a 25 per cent. reduction had been made.

Harrison and Morton to Meet.

Paid the Penalty.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Dec. 11.—Francis Asbury Hawkins was hanged this morning for the murder of his mother, because she opposed his marriage with a young woman to whom he was engaged, Hattie Shreck. The deed was committed in October 1887. Hawkins was connected with many prominent people hereabouts, and recently his girl smuggled a file into his cell to assist him to escape.

Another Destructive Storm.

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Dec. 11.—A heavy storm is raging, with the wind blowing in-shore, and the crews of the life-saving stations are patrolling the beach. It is thought that considerable damage will be done at high tide this afternoon. A large quantity of coconuts came ashore this morning, supposed to be from a wrecked vessel.

"EXTRA STAR" KEROSENE!

Best and Safest Oil Manufactured.

Strictly Water White. Guaranteed 150° fire test.

TOO MUCH CARE CANNOT BE TAKEN when purchasing Coal Oil, to obtain an article that will be perfectly safe and of good burning quality. The fact is now generally recognized that our "EXTRA STAR" and "EXTRA STAR" Oils are the safest and best illuminating oils ever offered, being superior in fire test and burning quality to all others. These oils are remarkably uniform, which is a decided advantage to the consumer. They will cost no more than inferior brands that are being put on the market branded "High Fire Test," but which are really only 100° to 115°, rendering them very unsafe oils for family use. We guarantee the "EXTRA STAR" better in every respect than the Kerosene, or any of the fancy brands sold at higher prices. We have had great difficulty in obtaining a sufficient supply to meet the large and increasing demand for our brands. A full supply, however, has just arrived, and we are now in condition to fill orders promptly.

Give these oils a trial and you will use no others. We quote "Star" Oil at 25c per gal. lots to suit; "Extra Star" at 25c per gal. lots to suit.

Healthy Vegetable.

A prominent physician was seen, buying a barrel of onions, and being grieved about his purchase, said: "I always have boiled onions for dinner for the benefit of my children. I like onions, too. They are the best medicine I know of for preventing colds. Feed onions—raw, boiled or baked—to the children three or four times a week and they'll grow up healthy and strong. No worms, no scurvy, no diphtheria where children eat plentifully of onions every day." And another distinguished physician confirmed the foregoing statement, adding: "I couldn't give better advice, no matter how hard I might try."

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a cough, a cold, a sore throat, a chest pain, or a shortness of breath, a cure is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Hodgkinson's drug store.

Rules for Measurement of Grain.

An exchange gives the following rules: To measure a bin of wheat, corn, potatoes, etc., multiply together the length, breadth and height to get the cubic feet. Divide the product by 56, and multiply the quotient by 45. The result shows the contents in bushels, struck measure. There are about four-fifths as many bushels as cubic feet in the contents of a bin; hence, it will be sufficiently accurate to divide the product by 5 and multiply the quotient by 4. By following this rule the contents can be known in a few minutes.

Not a California Bear.

Anybody can catch a cold this kind of weather. The trouble is to let go, like the man who caught the bear. We advise our readers to purchase of Osburn & Shoenberger a bottle of Santa Ana, the California King of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Cough and Croup Cures, and keep it handy. The pleasantest to the taste and health to the above complaints. Sold at $1 a bottle or three for $2.50. California Cures give immediate relief. The curative virtue is soon displayed in its healing and penetrating nature. Give it a trial. Six months' treatment $1, sent by mail, $1.10.

Rich Gold Ledge.

An exceedingly rich gold quartz strike has been made in the north-western portion of Yuma county, A. T., about four miles east of Harrisburg, by Robert Stein and Harry Whitton. The ledge is wide, and contains an excitement provable. Prospectors are crowding in from all directions. This section has been noted heretofore for its placer workings.

FUNERAL OF IDA KLINE.

Great sympathy felt for the bereaved family.
At the Congregational Church this afternoon, the funeral ceremonies over the remains of the late Miss Ida Kline were conducted by the Rev. Mr. McGill, the pastor of that church. The teachers and students of the State University, where prior to her illness, deceased had been attending school, were nearly all present, as were also many of the officers and members of Fidelity Lodge No. 4, I. O. G. T., of which she was an active member. The floral pillow was from the Bell Conservatory of Sacramento, and was composed of choice white flowers, with the letters "Ida" in purple, in the center; besides which the casket was profusely decorated with the choicest productions of the above mentioned conservatory. The funeral was largely attended by the many friends of the deceased and family. The University Cadets commanded by their military instructor, Lieutenant Ducat, were out in full force and followed the casket to the grave. In their distressing and irreparable affliction, the sorrow-stricken family have the warmest sympathy of the entire community.

Resolution of Condolence.

Forasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God in His inscrutable wisdom to call away from our midst by death, one of our beloved teachers, Miss Ida Kline, we, the members of the First Congregational Sunday School of Reno, hereby express our profound sorrow at the loss of one of our number, whose amiable life and spotless character won the respect and confidence of all; and we further express our condolence with her bereaved parents, brothers and sisters in their hour of deep affliction, and fervently pray the Great Head of the Church to comfort them in all their sorrows. On behalf of the Sunday School,
JAMES J. GRANT, Superintendent.

Will Sue for Damages.

Last Saturday Major Venier Voldo, the poet, well known in the late Presidential campaign as "The Little Giant of the Pacific," fell through the platform of Summit station breaking his right arm and receiving serious internal injuries. He was engaged in negotiating valuable agricultural patents in Nevada and Utah, and announces that he will at once sue the railroad company for $30,000 damages.

Railroad Survey.

The Modoc Independent of the 6th inst. says it is understood that the railroad surveyors, after getting nearly to Goose Lake Valley, found that they were working too low down, and so retraced their steps to the XL ranch and started in on a new grade. They are running a line along the side-hill from the river, and will follow this grade into the lower end of Goose Lake Valley.

Daily Wrecked.

This forenoon, Austin Hart's team, attached to his meat market wagon, started to run in the alley back of the shop and collided with the Bailey Brothers' market wagon, which was badly wrecked by having an axle-tree broken and the contents of the wagon scattered. The runaway team was caught up the river.

Woman's Relief Corps at Truckee.

From the Truckee Republican it is learned that Mrs. Judge Marshall of Reno recently visited that town to take the initiatory steps toward organizing a Women's Relief Corps, to be auxiliary to General Berry Post, G. A. R. The requisite number of names were obtained.

A Kind Mother.

A London cablegram to the New York Tribune says: Those who see them together say that nothing is more touching than the absolute unselfishness of the devotion of the Queen to the Empress Frederick. The Queen's one thought from morning to night is to minister to her daughter's comfort and to endeavor to diminish her grief. The smallest wish of the Empress is attended to and carried out with the most affectionate assiduity.

The Empress is looking worn and tired and sleeps badly, but the rest and quiet of Windsor, which she enjoys so thoroughly and which she and her daughters are never weary of expatiating on, are already beginning to have a good effect on her health and spirits.

If your back aches or if you are suffering from inflammation of the kidneys, seminal weakness, brick dust deposit in the urine, or in fact any kidney, urinary or liver complaint do not waste any money on worthless liniments or plasters, but strike the seat of the disease at once by using the greatest of all known remedies, Oregon Kidney Tea. It is pleasant to take, is purely vegetable, and has never failed to give entire satisfaction. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

Unoccupied Reservations.
Senator Stewart has introduced a bill to throw open for settlement for homesteaders the unoccupied military reservations in Nevada. Of these abandoned reservations there are 25,000 acres at old Camp McGarry and 2,500 acres at Fort McDermitt, in Humboldt county, 10,000 at Fort Halleck and 920 acres at Carlin, in Elko county. These lands, or the greater part of them, would be taken up at once under the Pre-emption or Homestead Acts if opened for settlement, as they are natural meadow lands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 2.—For several weeks my wife suffered from the affection of a very aggravated character, which seemed to defy all the usual remedies. I finally tried the Oregon Kidney Tea. The effect was an immediate improvement, and she has now entirely recovered her health.
H. C. FAIRBANKS, Salesman at Cutting Co. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

Higher Wages Wanted.

There is talk of a general strike of Chinese all over the State for higher wages. The more demands, says the Inyo Independent, made by Chinese for higher wages the better for the country. White labor will be preferred to Chinese labor when there is not too much difference in the rates of wages, and the more nearly the wages paid to Chinese approaches the rates for which white people can afford to work, the sooner we will get rid of the Chinese.

Death of an Old Citizen.

Miss Lucinda Washburn, a Sacramento pioneer, died last Sunday, aged 79 years. Deceased was a well-known personage at the California Capital, and always looked after her own business affairs, dressed quaintly in calico, with apron and old-style sunbonnet. Her estate is estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000.

If mothers studied their best interests they would find that Dr. Hemeny's Dandelion Tonic is the best household remedy. Many of the ailments to females could be avoided by its use. It is a pleasant to take and a glass of Wine. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

A SUPPOSED MURDER.

The Remains of a Man Found Below the Humboldt House.
Saturday, says the Silver State, Coroner Walker received a dispatch from M. Keane, section foreman at Humboldt House, that the remains of a human being had been found near the railroad about a mile west of that place.

Coroner Walker summoned a jury at the Humboldt House. In a badger hole a part of the bones of a man, about five feet, six inches in height, were found, and scattered about for a distance of twenty or thirty yards the remainder of the skeleton. About 200 yards from the badger hole they found a bed and some clothing, apparently two suits. Some papers and two memorandum books were found scattered among the rubbish.

A certificate, from Martin O'Brien, section foreman at Mill City, dated June 17, 1888, that Louis Drager had worked five and one-half days, was found among the papers; also an envelope containing fish-hooks, directed to Matt Parrott, Reno. The pockets of the clothing were empty. The jury were of the opinion, and found a verdict accordingly, that the deceased was named Louis Drager, and that he was murdered by some person or persons to them unknown. The remains were buried near the Humboldt House.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitter has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitter, and rely upon it, as a remedy for all troubles of the liver, stomach and kidneys. For all malarial fevers and diseases caused by malarial poisons, Electric Bitter is the only highly recommended. Also in head-ache and constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50 cents and $1 at Hodgkinson's drug store.

What the Drinker Gets.

Warner Miller, the recently defeated Republican candidate for Governor of New York, in a campaign speech in referring to corn, gave the following statistics: "A bushel of corn makes 48 gallons of whiskey. It sells for $16 at retail. The Government gets $3.50, the farmer 40 cents, the manufacturers $4, the vender $7, and the drinkers all that is left—delirium tremens."

Dr. Bo-sun-ko.

In his new discovery for Consumption, succeeded in producing a medicine which is acknowledged by all to be simply marvelous. It is exceedingly pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and does not sicken. In all cases of Consumption, Cough, Croup, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, and Pains in the Chest, this gives unusual satisfaction. Dr. Bo-sun-ko's Cough and Lung Syrup is sold at 50 cents by S. J. Hodgkinson.

A Buffalo Breeder.

There arrived at Minneapolis week before last a queer load of cattle in the shape of a herd of eighty-three buffaloes. The herd is the famous one raised since 1877 by Warden Benson of Shively Mountain, N. W. T. The animals have been bought by C. J. Jones of Garden City, Kan., who has for some years been making a special study of the buffalo, and who has at present a herd of about fifty on his ranch in Kansas.

First Settlement of Virginia.

Nothing remains of the famous English settlement of Jamestown, Va., begun in 1607, save the ruins of a church tower, and this is crumbling year by year. Tree roots have cracked the masonry, and slabs in the churchyard, and thus one of the few localities recalling the first years of American history is slowly losing its distinctive features.

Meeting Called.

A regular meeting of General Mitchell Post No. 19, G. A. R., will be held at their headquarters Monday evening, December 17, 1888, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Election of officers. All comrades and visiting comrades are requested to be present.
N. P. JAMES, Adjutant.

Ladies, do not ruin your complexion by the use of poisonous cosmetics and face powders. If your face is red or sunburned, if you are so unfortunate as to have pimples or blotches on the face, use Dr. Hemeny's Dandelion Tonic. It will not cover them like a coat of paint, but will most effectively remove all blemishes from the skin and restore it to its natural youthful bloom. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

Annual Meeting.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE stockholders of the First National Bank of Reno, Nevada, will be held at the banking office in Reno, Nevada,
On Tuesday, January 8th, 1889, at 2 P. M., for the election of Directors to serve for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.
About 200 yards from the badger hole they found a bed and some clothing, apparently two suits. Some papers and two memorandum books were found scattered among the rubbish.

A Card.
Your informant who originated the brilliant article on duces and their habits, contained in last evening's issue, is certainly the possessor of a powerful imagination; and the honor, gallantry and manliness he displays in trying to place a stigma on the character of young women who are ladies in every sense of the word, speaks well for his education, to the manhood of the self-constituted, envious and maliciously-inclined defamer of Reno innocence. His inviolable accusations I brand as the malicious lies of a degraded, sneaking cur.

FORTUNES IN SCRAP IRON.

Sorting the Pieces—Their Differing Values—Experts in Selection.

"You'd never think it was much of a trick to sort out scrap metal," said a dealer in old iron, as he stood in the middle of a yard heaped up with piles of rusty scraps of every description without any apparent order or method.

"As a matter of fact, though, there is quite a knack in it. It requires a good deal of experience if you don't want to get taken in, as the profits of the business all lie in a man's ability to tell at a glance what is good material and what is not. The greenhorn will go and buy a wagon-load of steel and cast iron piles over there, you see, and here are the borings and turnings from the machine shops."

"How are the scraps assorted?" asked the reporter.
"Well, you see there is a separate pile for the best scrap. It is nearly all in small pieces—bolts, nuts, screws, pieces of horseshoes, nails and such as that, all of the best quality of malleable iron. It commands the highest price, except for that of whole horseshoes, of any iron that is bought by us. We pay from 60 to 80 cents a hundred for it. Horseshoes are worth from $1 to $1.20 a hundred pounds."

"We pile the small pieces together that the scraps can be shoveled out into barrels or sacks, while the large pieces, such as broken shafting, boiler iron and metal of that sort, are packed up separately. There are the steel and cast iron piles over there, you see, and here are the borings and turnings from the machine shops."

"Of what use are those scraps of tin?" asked the reporter, pointing toward a huge heap of cut and twisted pieces of the shining metal.

"Oh, that goes to the smelting works. You see it mainly consists of the clippings and fragments of tinned and worn-out tin vessels. These are sometimes dipped in hydrochloric acid to dissolve the tin coating from the iron. The muriate of tin so formed is of commercial value for dyeing purposes."

Hanging up on the walls all about were cog-wheels, cranks, and other pieces of machinery, while in one corner was a collection of axes, pick-axes and pitchforks.

"Everything that we find of value in the masses of scrap that come in here every day by the wagon-load," remarked the dealer, "or that can be used in the shape it is received in, is preserved from the scrap heaps and sold separately."

"There are people who if they want a lot of pickaxes, for instance, never think of going to a hardware store for them, but come direct to the scrap iron dealer, where they can generally find serviceable articles of the second-hand class. Nearly all of these cranks and cog-wheels will come into use in their present shape some day."

"Scrap iron," continued the dealer, "consists of any kind of iron that will serve the purpose of remelting, but more especially that of malleable quality. We work in all the old ship iron that can be made serviceable, and there is one firm in the city that makes a specialty of that branch of the business."

"They have broken up several old vessels during the past year and taken out tons of good scrap iron. They are now tearing the 'Mohongo' to pieces over in Oakland, and selling her plates and sheeting to the nail manufacturers. There is a good deal of money in that kind of trade if one understands it."

Of late the scrap iron business has increased to such an extent as to make it an important feature of water front trade. Several good-sized fortunes have been made in the business. Large lots of vacant land are covered with heaps of the rusty metal, for which there is always a brisk demand during the busy season at the iron works.

The smaller scraps make the best kind of shafting and pipe material, as the fibres of the finished product are so twisted and intertwined as almost to defy an attempt at breaking, while for ordinary use it will last for years. —[San Francisco Chronicle.]

LIFE'S PHILOSOPHY.

Do not hurry. Do not hurry!
Nothing good is got by worry.
Bide the hour to make the Spring!
Take life easy; that's the thing.

Do not trouble. Do not trouble!
Heavy hearts make tolling double.
Groans the back with loaded pain?
Laugh, and 'twill grow light again.

Do not sorrow. Do not sorrow!
Grief to-day is joy to-morrow.
Life flows smoothly after tears.
Eyes shine brightest washed with tears.

Hark the children, hark the voices!
Somewhere everything rejoices.
Blasts without of winter ring,
Yet inward mirth makes endless Spring.

Soon from elms will rooks be cawing.
Young lambs leaping, old folk thawing;
Soon with a sunny day will dawn
Will daisies bright bedeck the lawn.

Forward, then, to victory straining!
Forward, as brave men, unconquering!
The game's afoot, and here's the ball:
Yonder the goal; on, comrades all!

At Coney Island.

A woman got beyond her depth, and Charlie Knickerbocker heroically rushed into the water and pulled her out just as she was going down for the third time. Her husband, a large, stout man, thanked Charlie heartily, and taking him off to one side, whispered:
"You have saved the life of my wife, but you are too much of a gentleman to accept any reward from me. Let me give you a piece of advice that will be valuable to you—never eat sausage in summer. I'm a Plover's butcher, and I know what I'm talking about."

He Did Not Get Away.

"You never drink or smoke, do you, George, dear?" she said. "You know I could never marry a man who drinks and smokes!"

George in a broken-hearted tone of voice, admitted that he did smoke and drink a little, and turned to go.

"Never mind, George," said the girl, "perhaps my wife's intentions will induce you to give them up."

CONDUCT UNDER FIRE.

The Same Men Brave or Cowardly According to Circumstances.

Speaking with Colonel Greene, says a writer in the Philadelphia News, about the irresistible impulse among soldiers to lie down when shells whizzed dangerously near, he replied:

"Yes; that impulse was uncontrollable, and I recall just now a laughable occurrence at Fredericksburg in Virginia. You remember the enemy had a number of siege guns there, and every now and then they would throw a tremendous shell across the Rappahannock and send consternation and panic through our camp."

"At first these shells created great confusion and dismay, but the boys soon became used to them, and unless one came very near little attention was paid to the cannonading."

"I was standing one day, however, in the midst of our camp, where perhaps a hundred soldiers were to be seen, when suddenly one of these great shells was heard coming through the air, and as it whirled with a terrible crash directly over our heads every one of those hundred forms crouched down behind the shelter tents in little blue heaps, myself included, and when they recovered themselves and raised up once more the blood had fled from every face and they were blanched to an ashy whiteness."

"As soon as they saw the danger was passed, the blood came rushing back to their cheeks with the blush of their shame, and their fears vanished with a loud laugh as an old sergeant of the regiment, whose face had been of the whitest, realizing how ridiculous it was to hide behind a shelter tent to find safety from a shell that would have knocked a house down, shouted to all boys man could hear him: 'I say, boys, when the Johnnies fling another of them grave-diggers over this way, 'pose we get a sheet of note paper and hide behind that.'"

"And yet," added the Colonel, "within a week these same men were part of a line which marched to Mary's Heights over a field that was literally ploughed with shot and shell until they were so close to the siege gun that threw the grave-diggers that you could have tossed a copper into their trenches where the iron monster laid."

The other incident mentioned by Colonel Greene was more touching:
"We had," he said, "in our command a man who could not get into a fight. He was a good fellow and everybody liked him, and he was really more pitied than condemned for his cowardly infirmity. Finding that he was of no service in the company, and fearing that his example might be demoralizing, he was detailed as teamster, and he served with the wagon trains throughout the whole war and was never in a fight."

"After hostilities had ceased and there was not an armed volunteer in the field, this man, who was still on detached service in the field, was one day engaged in removing a lot of muskets from a wagon preparatory to their being sent North."

"A comrade who was assisting him cautioned him to be careful, as some of the guns might be loaded. He replied that there was no danger, as they were old and rusty, and had long been out of use, but scarcely had the words escaped his lips when one of the guns was discharged and he was instantly killed."

Apt Similitude.

There is nothing the mind enjoys, after all, like getting an idea, and getting it quick—which is only giving in a nutshell, the gist of Herbert Spencer's admirable essay on "Style."

A friend was telling me the other that he had a new cook. He said (he is a small man):

"I am afraid of her. She is as big as a bonded warehouse."

I saw in the paper lately that somebody expressed himself as being "dry as a covered bridge."

And how can we declare the fineness of anything so well as by saying it is "as fine as a fiddle?" The alliteration, no doubt, helps, but it does not count for very much.

You could not substitute fish, or feather, or life, or flamingo, though each is fine after a fashion.

Nothing will serve but a "fiddle," with its preternatural shine of varnish, its perky angles and curves—pointed like a saucy nose—with perhaps (but this is venturing into deep psychological water) a suggestion, subconscious, of the jaunty fiddler with his airs and graces, dressed as if just out of a bandbox.

"Lively as a flea," seems good and lively, but an old sea captain of mine used to say: "he flew around like a flea in a hot skillet."

describes the activity of a different sort of temperament. —[Atlantic.]

Humorous Coats-of-Arms.

United States Senator Sawyer has adopted a saw-log as a coat-of-arms.

The late Jefferson Wallace, of Richmond, Virginia, being in Paris during the recent war, the State of that city had occasion to employ a French artist to fabricate some garments for him.

The latter was anxious to embellish the articles with Mr. Wallace's coat-of-arms, and to please him, that gentleman drew the semblance of a barrel, on the end of which was the legend, "Mountain Dew," the name of a famous brand of whisky dealt in by his house.

Something in His Extremation.

In the jury room—"Where do you see extenuating circumstances in this case? The prisoner has certainly murdered his father and mother," protests a juror.

"Yes, but the next day he went and inquired about them, which shows a good trait in his character."

Why He Shaved.

Stranger—Zum Donnerwetter, now you have cut my chin a second time. If you can't shave better than that you will lose all your customers pretty quick.

Barber's apprentice—Not at all! I am not allowed to shave the regular customers yet, I only shave strangers!

Texas Siftings.

And Weekly Gazette for $3 per year.

The Texas Siftings is a paper full of wit and humor, gotten up in an attractive form and illustrated. Subcribe while it is cheap.

The subscription price of SIFTINGS is $4 a year. It is a 16-page paper, profusely illustrated by the leading artists and caricaturists of the day. In the matter of original humor it is acknowledged to stand at the head of the illustrated press of the country, and has been well named the "Witty Wonder of the World." It is published in New York and has a national reputation. The merits of SIFTINGS are so well known that we do not deem it necessary to refer to them further. No one but a GAZETTE subscriber can get SIFTINGS for less than $4 a year.
